TO KEEP MARTIN AND GIVE HIM LIFE State Would Invoke Ha-"Returning Him Not Worth While."

Jack Martin may realize his expressed desire not to return to the Georgia prison farm, it was seen Friday night when the police of Grosse Pointe Park, Mich., where he was captured Friday night, announced they were going to take steps to have him adjudged a habitual criminal under the Michigan laws and sentenced to life imprisonment in that state. There is no assurance, however, that the Georgia prison commission will permit Michigan to keep Martin, Judge G. A. Johns, vice chairman of the commission, asserting that "we want Martin back and will keep him when he gets here." The other two members of the board were not available Friday night. "It's hardly worth while sending Martin back to Georgia," James C. Drysdale, chief of the Grosse Pointe Park police, said after reading Martin's record for escapes and being informed officially that he had been captured in Michigan less than six months ago and returned to Georgia only to saw his way out of the death cell at Milledgeville with Leland Harvey. Martin and Harvey were trapped in a fashionable residence Thursday night.

the tubercular farm at Milledgeville Monday, three days after Harvey and Martin escaped.

Harvey is believed to be still in the vicinity of Detroit and, it is felt, has little chance of eluding the wide net set for him by the Detroit and Wayne county police. A stolen car, as well as a number of stolen license plates of, Ohio, Alabama and other states, was found near Detroit Friday, indicating that Harvey had abandoued his vehicular transportation and was taking his chances afoot.

Wide Search in Chicago.

Meanwhile the determined search for Smith and Gardner continued in Chicago. Police believe they fled to that city after abandoning their stotlen car at Hammond. Smith has a brother living in Chicago. The search for Powers, who is believed to have separated from Smith and Gardner shortly after they fled the tubercular hospital at the prison farm, was centered about San Antonio, where Powers was captured last year after he had been at liberty for several years as a result of walking out of the Fulton tower.

In Atlanta, Prison Commissioners Stanley and Johns conferred with Governor Richard B. Russell Jr. regarding the entire prison situation, especially the specding up of the construction of the new prison farm in Continued in Page 8, Column 4.

Undersecretary Asks Passage of Revenue Bill To Affect 1931 Incomes.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—(P)-The treasury still believes that new es now in the making should affect 1931 incomes, despite the opposite decision of the house ways and means decision of the house ways and means committee.

Undersecretary Mills told Speaker Garner today the treasury had not changed its attitude, adding that if the levies did not apply on incomes last year, more revenue must be raised from miscellaneous sources to balance the budget in two years.

At a conference in the speaker's office, Mills said the action of the committee in deciding not to make the bill retroactive would delay the collection of additional income taxes until March 15, 1933.

At the same time, the undersecretary said the treasury would give any information it had available to the committee to assist it in formulating a new $1,000.000,000 tax bill.

Chairman Collier said the ways and means group "will call upon the treasury for any assistance we need and will be glad to have any suggestions Undersecretary Mills has to offer, although we won't accept everything submitted."

Garner said that about $450,000,000 would be raised in avaise taxes and the same time. The same time is provided by the state revenue commission recommending that sheriffs waive such penalties until February 20.

Chairman Collier said he did not "think Mr. Mills or the treasury will get very far in advocating making the taxes retroactive, after the 25 members of the ways and means committee turned it down."

Meanwhile, the legislative committee of the American Federation of Labor sent a letter to Collier in which it opposed increased taxes on income in the lower brackets.

This would go immediately toward reducing the prospective $2,200,000,000 deficit. He did not answer when asked to name articles affected.

By not making the taxes retroactive, Garner said, the committee had prevented an added hardship on the people and business by saving them about $200,000,000.

He added it was doubtful whether the bill would be passed by March 15, the last day income tax returns could be filed.

Athens Institution Celebrates Birthday During Farmers' Conference.

ATHENS, Ga., Jan. 29 .- (P)-Alumni of the Georgia State College of Agriculture Friday night celebrated the 25th anniversary of the college a a banquet during the annual farmers' week and marketing conference.

week and marketing conference.

The occasion was the alumni association's annual meeting. Tribute was paid to the original faculty of the college. Dr. Andrew M. Soule, president, Dr. T. H. McHatton, head of the horticultural division, and J. F. Hart, agricultural agent of Laurens county, were speakers at the banquet. The original faculty that was honored included: Dr. Soule, Dr. Milton F. Jarnagin, chief animal husbandman; Dr. John R. Fain, professor of agronomy; A. P. Winston, foreman of the college farm; P. O. Vanatter, superintendent of field experiments, and Miss Ethel Reese, secretary to the president.

Miss Ethel Reese, secretary to the president.

President Soule outlined the achievements of the college and said "it is a noteworthy fact that boys and girls' club work originated in Georgia and was successfully fostered" in the state several years before passage of the Smith-Lever act.

"The college," he said, "now directs extension work in Georgia and at present there are 124 men, 93 women agents, and 56 specialists employed, making a total of 273 individuals engaged in this work. The college now directly reaches and aids more than 50,000 citizens annually. It has returned approximately $70 to the state for each dollar invested in its activities.

"It has specifically correlated its efforts with the public school system of Georgia and set up a standard and nationally-approved system of agricultural education."

Dr. Soule said the college had trained more than 925 experts and specialists to serve the state and that by June, 1932, this number will approximate 1,100.

"Untrained, they would not have mate 1,100.

"Untrained, they would not have earned more than $23,125,000 during their life expectancy," he said.

"As it is, they have a life expectancy and an earning capacity of approximately $168,500,000."

The conference will close tomorrow with Governor Russell as the principal speaker. He will be preceded on the closing program by T. W. Reed. registrar of the university, who will discuss "The Years Between 1907 and 1932."

Mr. Alfriend said an adequately educated public is able to protect itself against the exploitation of its resources. City real estate and farm lands in Georgia, he said, are bearing more than their share of taxes.

ing more than their share of taxes.

Dr. T. F. Abercrombie, head of the state department of health, discussed health conditions in Georgia. He said the death rate in typhoid fever, diphtheria and pellagra over the state had decreased in the past two years.

The death rate in typhoid decreased from more than 20 per cent of reported cases in 1929 to 16.1 per cent in 1931, and the pellagra deaths in 1931 were 551, compared to 830 in 1929, he said. Education in proper foods and consumption of yeast has helped greatly to control pellagra, he said.

Miss Mary E. Creswell presided at the morning session. R. J. Richard-son, extension poultryman of the State College of Agriculture, recommended that Georgia farmers in-clude in their 1932 program the rais-ing of a few broilers for market. He said where feedstuff is raised at home, a profit could be made on such

Letters From a Bald-Headed Dad to a Flapper Daughter

BY ROBERT QUILLEN

My Dear Louise:
The easiest way to avoid trouble is to be prepared for it, and for that reason I want you to understand the pitfalls and dangers prepared for you by your well-meaning sisters of other days.

The present way of life seems normal to you because you have known no other. Only those who have lived through the period of change, and thus obtained the evidence required for comparison, can realize how much the revolution of women altered their lives and

ROBERT QUILLEN

A few brave and intelligent women, desiring nothing more than justice, demanded and eventually obtained recognition of the fact that women are people.

Women were "emancipated." They were given the right to vote; the law recognized them as man's equal. But the movement for freedom didn't end there. The momentum of a successful revolution always carries it beyond its goal. New-found freedom is a heady wine. When a colt kicks free of its harness, it always runs away. The aftermath of every revolution is a period of excesses and follies—liberty running amuck to celebrate itself.

You hear prohibition blamed for feminine folly. Girls no longer are offended when their escorts get tipsy. Some of them share the liquor. Women serve liquor in their homes, But prohibition isn't responsible. Women didn't do such things in dry states before they were "emanci-

But while it continues you will be tempted by reckless speech and example to copy the "freedom" of men—not freedom to be good, but

Watch your step, my dear. There will be a reaction and a return to the old standards of decency. But the guilty can't return to innocence. #### 'Moratorium' Restores Confidence Of Aurora Business and Industry

NOTE-The "moratorium," or business suspension, declared one week ago in Aurora, Ill., to show bank depositors what a city of 50,000 population would be like with banks and business closed, ended this week, and business is functioning again. In the following dispatch the mayor of Aurora describes the benefits of "moratorium."

der the most favorable conditions that have existed since the beginning of the depression.

As has been the case in many other communities throughout the country, idle and vicious rumors had undermined the confidence of our citizens in the stability of our five banks, four national and one state.

All of these institutions are sound, and can, if necessary, pay every dollar owed their depositors. Heavy withdrawals from savings and checking accounts, however, had threatened to leave the banks without ready cash to satisfy the insistent demands of the depositors, and this, if continued, would have rendered normal banking operations impossible.

Realizing the seriousness of the heavy drain on the banks, and visualizing the terrifying effect on business if even one were forced to close, a group of 50 businessmen, including bankers, met last week and after an an all-night session decided that the logical solution lay in a short moratorium on all business and banking activities.

To that end I signed a proclamation declaring such a moratorium, and the most favorable contents and banking activities.

Oil Industry Latest Addition To Uruguayans' Program Of Government Operation

(Satisfied with the result of a gradual monopolization over two decades of the most lucrative businesses and industries in the republic, Uruguay is launching now a monopoly of gasoline and alcohol refining and finds soviet Russia ready to help its project. Yet the Uruguayan experiment antedates the soviet republics and Uruguay says the relationship is merely one of buyer and seller, not symbolic of any reapprochement. In the last of the three articles, an Associated Press staff writer recounts Uruguay's plans for its newest monopolistic venture.)

RY ARMANDO MATTE.

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Jan. 29. Stalin was an unheeded revolutionar gitator in St. Petersburg and Leon Trotzky was fleeing in disguise from a Siberian exile camp when Uruguay committed itself in 1911 to state operation of the insurance business.

Uruguay already owned light and power plants, railroads, a chemical factory and a packing plant and had given the government power to acquire all the nation's telephone and telegraph lines before North Dakota made banking and flour-milling state affairs; before South Dakota entered the businesses of hail insurance, rural eredits, coal mining and cement manufacture; or before Nebraska made the state the guarantor of bank deposits.

Today soviet Russia is selling Uruguay 6,150,000 gallons of crude oil with which to start the refinement of manufacture; or before Nebraska made the state the guarantor of bank deposits.

During the day, senate democrats got behind the next piece of emergency legislation—the Glass bill intended to aid depositors of closed banks and revise the banking laws.

Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the party leader, announced after a meetred to work on this legislation as soon as such modifications as such modifications as may be necessary are completed.

President Hoover yesterday arranged for Senator Glass, democrat, Virginia, author of the measure, and Walcott, republican, Connecticut, to estimate the service the banking laws.

Uruguay 6,150,000 gallons of crude oil with which to start the refinement of petroleum into gasoline and by-products in government-built refineries. Uruguay says there is no commercial partnership between them—that it desires merely to buy from the lowest bidder and Russia made the lowest bidder and Russia made the lowest bidder and Russia made the lowest bid, the United States and European countries having withdrawn from competition.

The national administration of combustibles, alcohol and cement has been set up to exploit the fuel and cement business of Uruguay and to deal in petroleum derivatives. The board has not yet got beyond the planning stage, but architects are working on the refinery plans and the contract for the crude oil is agreed upon.

The fuel monopoly will be one of refining only until government refineries are producing gasoline enough to supply half the nation's needs of 120,000 long tons a year. Until them foreign companies may continue without restriction the importation of gasoline.

Uruguay uses about 500,000 longs tons a year of petroleum by-products, the shall be made expeditiously and the shall be made expeditiously and the shall be made expeditiously and the line.

Uruguay uses about 500,000 long tons a year of petroleum by-products, worth about $5,000,000. It is calculated that in the future only half thy amount will be paid to foreign countries, and that Uruguay will keep at home another four million dollars and a half.

The newly created board will erect a plant to distill alcohol of the best quality for medicinal and industrial uses, deriving the alcohol mostly from corn and thus helping the farmers. Most of the alcohol nationally distilled will be used in a "national fuel," a mixture of half alcohol and half gasonline of proved value for combustible engines.

Cement will be made for sale in Uruguay, but the board does not yet foresee a definite time when the government will monopolize its manufacture and sale.

Some Uruguayan leaders have contemplated the eventual necessity of building Uruguayan tankers to carry hither the crude oil which will be needed by the government refineries when they are in full operation. The twenty million long tons of petroleum which Russia will supply to start the experiment will be only a beginning, and it probably will be transported in Russian tankers.

BEERY AND GABLE STAR
IN "HELL DIVERS" A FOX
It is doubtful if ever a film story was told that contains the breath-taking thrills to be found in "Hell Divers," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production made with the assistance of the United States naval air service and which will show at the Fox theater beginning today. With a wonderfully moving story, with Clark Gable and Wallace Beery in the principal roles and with a tremendously strong supporting cast, it is still the shots of hundreds of planes in the air together, of groups of giant dirigibles maneuvering above the clouds and of the bombing of real warships that make the picture so great.

In addition to this exceptional feature picture, the Fox offers this week "Vacation Days," one of the peppiest of the Fanchyn and Marco ideas. With a line of pulchritudinous girls, a group of clever principals and some startling scenic effects, it will undoubtedly cause plenty of comment before the week is out.

BARBARA STANWYCK STARS IN "FORBIDDEN"

Goodness gracious, they caught Deacon Will (picture czar) Hays napping and slipped a most entertaining picture over on the old boy. And truth becomes the screen. The picture is "Forbidden" and the playhouse is the Capitol.

bidden" and the playhouse is the Capitol.

Barbara Stanwyck, playing the lead in this story of a girl who sacrifices all for love, makes the part entirely believable through the sincerity of her efforts. One feels that the love-starved girl, gambling, her savings on a trip to Havana, does not err so greatly when she follows the inclinations of a heart swayed by dreams of happiness.

Rudely awakened from her dream of romance when she finds that her lover, portrayed by Adolphe Menjou, is married, she sends him away, to face the lonesome road alone. Though such would not be necessary, since a young reporter, played by Ralph Bellamy, incessantly presses his suit for her heart and hand, as far as she is concerned he is only a cub.

The years flash by, the child grows to maturity, now legally adopted by Menjou and his unsuspecting frau. Menjou has aroused the hatred of the reporter, who now sits majestically behind the city editor's desk and who vows to ruin his enemy's political aspirations. The audience is not let down by the unexpected ending. The usual news reel, comedy, and travelog supplement the program.

Brooklyn Attitude on Macon Park May Imperil Southeastern; Jackets and Bulldogs Clash on Auditorium Court Tonight

Roy Mundorf's Georgia Tech basketball team, which meets Georgia at the auditorium tonight in the first of a three-game series, has kicked up no end of enthusiasm.

The fact is that Tech's basketball team is out of the red in a very red period. It is drawing them in at the gate, largely because a young fellow named "Little Kitty" Katz has been tossing them through the net from all sorts of angles.

Thus, once more, is illustrated the value of having someone on your team whose name is familiar. And one which pos-

Thus, once more, is illustrated the value of having someone on your team whose name is familiar. And one which possesses a peculiar sort of rythm. Colleges are greatly indebted to the sports writing fraternity which popularizes such names.

When the teams take the floor tonight there will be more questions asked about and more fingers impolitely pointed at "Catfish" Smith, of Georgia, and "Little Kitty" katz, of Tech, than any other men on the floor. Stripped of their press-value names they become simply Vernon Smith and Hyman Katz. But with "Catfish" and "Kitty" attached they become wellknown personages.

One reason Tech's football team drew smaller crowds than usual last season was the lack of a colorful player with an attractive name and personality. "Stumpy" Thomason was the last Tech player to have gate appeal. One wonders what Georgia will do next fall without the familiar names of "Jack the Ripper" and "Catfish."

TECH'S BIG CHANCE.

Tech's basketball team has a great chance to upset the Bulldogs tonight. That chance is expected to bring out quite a throng of people from Athens and Atlanta.

Rex Enright's teams will be new to Atlanta hardwood. The man who had charge of the Bulldogs through the Yale game and who coached the backfield all seathe Yale game and who coached the backfield all season, seems to be a good man with the basketball squad.

The Bulldogs looked like a great team at Mercer. Because Lake Russell's indoor competitors are a real team. Georgia lost two men in that game and their absence tonight will probably be felt a bit. At any rate, the odds appear about even to-

BANDS NEEDED.

Tech's band will be present tonight, thus increasing the attractiveness of the program.

The ordinary basketball game indicates the value of bands and the trappings of pageantry to football. There is never a quiet or dull moment in the average football game. Basketball has many moments when there seems to be a death-like silence broken only by the swish of rubber-soled shoes on the floor.

Georgia Tech's baseball games were more attractive last season because of the presence of bands and cheer leaders.

THE PATH OF TRUE LOVE.

The path of true love never runs smooth, said the Elisabethan bard. And it is equally true today in the Hoover era. There is the story about a basketball player who is a star on a college team. He is in love with a young lady at a nearby city. So is another young man who lives in the same city where the young lady makes her

A few weeks ago the college team visited the town to play basketball. And what did the rival do but have a lot of his friends scattered through the crowd to boo the basketball player whenever he missed a shot. If the young lady finds out why those boos were heard the college player is pretty sure to bound forward in her affections. The home-town boy seems to be desperate. Such machinations smack of the sinister.

RUSSELL LIKES TWOMEY.

Lake Russell, coach of the Mercer football team, entertained the coaches who visited the Mercer-Georgia series in Macon last week, with a buffet supper after the game.

Ted Twomey, who is here for spring practice at Georgia, was present at Russell's home. The Mercer coach looked him over a while and shook his head.

"Well," he said, "I am glad I didn't play in the back-field on any team that met Notre Dame while Twomey was there. If I had been leading the interference and met him I would have quit and run the other way.'

Twomey is still formidable looking. Jack Cannon, Tech's line coach, says Twomey was the greatest tackle he ever saw.

NOTRE DAME'S SMALL MEN.

All of which brings to mind the fact that Notre Dame had few small men after all. Somehow, because of a few men like Metzer and Kiley, the idea got around that Notre Dame used Jack-Cannon, Ted Twomey, Harry Mehre and other linemen who have been stars there, were all good, big men. The Notre Dame team of 1931 must have averaged close to 200 pounds.

All of which, of course, is smart. A good big man is always better than a good little man. There is one adage that holds true without exception.

BATTLING BOZO'S FAILURE.

Battling Bozo, the Birmingham clown, evidently isn't of championship caliber. His two last eforts in the elimination contests have been failures.

The Alabama boy never took the game seriously enough. He liked a laugh too well to train seriously enough. And he never had a punch.

"Pa" Stribling is still seeking a southern boy who can get to the top. His plans to open up promotions in Atlanta are part of that plan.

With Engel, the front man of the Chattanooga Lookouts, manipulating the strings of combat, sports scribes in Knoxville and Chattanooga are whooping things up for a grand and furious getaway next April.

These near-by cities of the common-wealth of Tennessee always have been rivals, and Engel is banking on this sentiment to pack the fans into his stadium on opening day and again bring the circuit attendance record back to his club as in 1931.

It all came about through the assignment of opening day locations. For some years Chattdnooga has opened against Atlanta, and when the Lookouts were given Knoxville, the baby member of the association, as first opponents, Engel pretended a terrible disappointment. "Country town," said Engel, of

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 29.—
(P)—T. Phillip Perkins, with age and experience on his side, beat back the challenge of Young Winfield Day and won the La Gorce open amateur golf championship today, 7 up and 5 holes

Day, Chicago and Miami Beach high echool boy, conceded victory to the former British open amateur champion with a dramatic flash at the 31st green. His attempted explosion shot from a sand trap sailed far over the green, while Perkins' tee shot was dead at the slag. Day walked over and warmly congratulated his conqueror.

DEADLY APPROACHES. Throughout the final round, it was Perkins' deadly approach shots that spelled defeat for the youngster. The bespectacled Englishman was 1 up after the first nine, raised his advantage to 4 up at 18 holes, added another to be 5 up at 27 holes and captured the 30th and 31st to end Frequently Perkins' approaches went straight for the flag to assure him easy pars or an occasional birdie, while Day had trouble with his game. Weak putting cost him holes on several occasions.

A machine of golfing consistency. Perkins showed few spots of erratic playing. Once, on the first nine, he required three putts, and again at the 23d he missed an explosion shot out of a trap.

Red Barron Reveals Family's Real Hero

13-Year-Old War With Death.

"Red" Barron, who has been toasted and dined at frequent intervals the city of his adoption since he became manager of the Atlanta

And David Irenus, who pever fails to give his public addresses a touch of sentiment, told those present that the real hero of the Barron family was not an athlete, not Carter, Pat or himself, but an older brother who went to fight in the great war and came back with its lethal blight and who loved a Tough spot and who undoubtedly had found one in his new task of getting the Crackers away from a proneness to finish in the second division.

"I don't know whether you look upon me as just a history teacher at Monroe A. & M. or as a professional ball player, who as a rule are considered rather hard-boiled, but I appreciate this chance to be with you and say something for baseball," Barron began.

DEBT TO ATLANTA. "First I want to say that I feel closer to Atlanta than any other city in the world, and that Atlanta has done more for me than I can ever

"I have been promised unlimited support by 'Chip' Robert and Bobby Jones, and while I do not think the public will demand that I remedy in one year what has been wrong for six years, you can count on me to have a fighting club in the ball game every day," he declared.

The old redhead also made an earnest plea for encouragement of baseball among the youth of the country and praised Major Trammell Scott, Legion commander, for his activities in behalf of sandlot baseball and football in the city. He termed the American Legion baseball program a worthy cause.

"Baseball is going through a crisis. I was greatly worried over the threatened collapse of the Dixie College league. The youngsters carry the hopes of the game and a man who will help them along is being the kind of man he should be."

Barron pointed out that he in-tends always to remain a "kid."
"The president of our school, of whom I am very fond, used to remind me that I should acquire as much dignify as possible. I told him that whether I had dig-nity or not, I would rather be a pal to my boys."
We remember that Barron inspired his Monroe teams by getting out and ugging a football with them. He nopes to get the Crackers heated up by setting an example of old-fashion-

It seems they gave him a year to live when he came out of the big conflict, but he is still carrying on. The 13-year battle that this ex-soldier has waged against the heavy hand of war was the inspiration for a corking good talk that "Red" Barron made yesterday.

At 8:15 o'clock Referee Sam Glassman will toss a leather hand grenade into the air above the heads of Wild Bill Strickland and Bad Bill Perkins in the center of the court, and blow his whistle.

There will be a preliminary game between Tech Freshmen and Decatur High School, starting at 7 o'clock. Admission prices will be 50 and 75

This will be the signal for the first barrage on the court, and general explosions in the cheering galleries.

When it comes to fierce grappling at close quarters, there is nothing like the intensity of a Tech-Georgia basketball game. A Tech-Georgia football game draws a great many more basketball game. A Tech-Georgia foot-ball game draws a great many more people and considerably more maxuma, but when the Bulldogs and Jackets begin airing themselves out in shorts, there is more action and uncontrolled excitement than a kennel full of fox terriers can raise over the sudden en-trance of a tomcat.

A victory tonight would be a very lucious plum for either team, as the outcome of this series between the old state rivals makes or breaks their respective basketball seasons.

For once, the Jackets and Bulldogs appear evenly matched. Georgia may be given a slight edge in view of the fact that they have been cutting something of a swath among leading southern challengers since Christmas. Enright has perfected a alow, deliberate offense in working the ball down the court and the Bulldogs haven't the slightest hesitancy about cracking down at the basket from anywhere near the foul line.

MAX BAER WINS OVER LEVINSKY IN FAST BATTLE

Californian Stunned in First But Comes Back Strong To Win.

By Stuart Cameron,

By Stuart Cameron,

United Press Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—(UP)—

Max Baer, of California, won a cleancut 10-round decision over King Levinsky, of Chicago, in a fast heavyweight bout tonight in Madison Square Garden.

Hailed in advance as the Battle of the Daffy-Dils, the bout lived up to expectations. Baer and Levinsky are, unquestionably, the dizziest-acting heavyweights active today, and their unorthodox ring tricks amused the fans as much as their generally dazslingly speedy fighting thrilled them.

The decision of the three officials was unanimous and followed pre-fight predictions. Baer weighed 202 pounds and Levinsky 193 1-2. 'The fight attracted a crowd of nearly 12,000, who paid $31,000.

Levinsky won the first round. He stunned Baer with a violent two-fisted attack to the head. From that round on, while Baer absorbed much punishment, he held the upper hand.

Early in the second round Baer signalled Levinsky to "come on." Levinsky did. He gave Max everything he had, but Max laughed inanely.

In the third round Levinsky all but fell after missing the mark with a wildly thrown right to the head. In the next round Baer wrestled with Boys' High Takes Early Lead and Never Is Headed.

A spectacular rally in the closing minutes of play when Ezell and Tumlin scored field goals in rapid succession enabled Boys' High to beat Columbus High, 31 to 27, Friday night on the Henry Grady court.

Two sure-fire bouts are on the weekly wrestling card to be held Tuesday night in the auditorium.

Blue Sun Jennings, Osage Indian, and Steve Znoski, both former collegians, meet in the two-hour feature match, while Pat O'Shocker, the redheaded "Shock" from Utah, and Jack Zarnos grapple in the semi-windup.
The Jennings-Znoski bout, regarded by Promoter Henry Weber as a "natural," will afford Sun Jennings more opportunity to display his skill than on the Henry Grady court.

Boys' High started off strong with an accurate pass attack and was leading. 17 to 13, at the intermission.

Columbus came back strong in the second half with a barrage of field goal tries from long range and succeeded in squaring the count at the end of the third quarter.

Play in the fourth quarter was un-usually close with neither team hav-ing any advantage until Ezell slipped through for a field goal at close range. Tumlin followed suit from the side of the court just as the whis-tle blow

Record Shattered

Except for Bowden, a substitute, every player on the Boys' High team scored at least 2 points, with Ezell and Tumlin sharing honors with 7 points each. Hays and Levin were close behind.

King and Chambliss were outstanding for Columbus with 9 and 5 points, respectively. Kirkland played a particularly good defensive game for the visitors.

Coach Frank Anderson, of Ogle-thorpe, plans an early start in base-ball this spring, and if the spring-like winter weather continues, Petrel diamond candidates will be called out around the middle of February, he an-nounced last night.

nounced last night.

Such an early start will give the veteran coach, one of the south's greatest champions of the collegiate game, an opportunity to develop one of his best teams in recent years before the Dixie league season opens.

Oglethorpe finished in fourth place in the Dixie league last season, after holding on to second place until the second Florida series at Gainesville. Toward the wane of the league season the team slumped after a strong start.

PROMISING PROSPECTS.

PROMISED FANS For the coming season Coach Anderson's prospects of a strong nine are very promising. Heaviest losses are Claud Herrin, All-America third baseman, a heavy hitter and fine fielder, and Kid Golden, slugging outfielder.

Dawes Considering Proposal To Establish Regional Offices in Various Parts of Country.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—The possibility of Atlanta being selected as both state and regional headquarters for the giant new two-billion-dollar reconstruction finance corporation loomed today when it was learned that General Charles G. Dawes, head of the corporation, is giving consideration to

While it has not yet been delermined definitely what the policy of the corporation will be with respect in branch agencies, the ramifications of the organization promise to be so extensive that it is expected to prove necessary to set up not only state headquarters but regional offices as well.

TIL MONDAY BY COURT

PHOENIX, Jan. 29.—(P)—Superior Judga Howard C. Speakman ordered today a 72-hour postponement of the murder trial of Winnie Ruth Judd but announced he does not contemplate declaring a mistrial because of present illness of jurors.

Court was recessed until Monday, with two members of the jury confined to their beds, one with interestinal influenza and the other threatend with influenza. A third was indisposed. Illness first invaded the jury box last Wednesday. No testimony has been heard since. "I have reached a decision," Judge Speakman said, "to try this case before 12 of these men—which 12 we cannot yet determine—if it takes days, or weeks, or months."

The International Settlement, meanwhile, was wrapped in calm slumber. Extra police patrols had been put on because a state of emergency was declared at noon the day before. The patrols were lounging at the street corners and were the only figures to be seen on the streets. I visited many outposts of the settlement, manned by United States marines and Shanghai volunteer units.

They asked me: "What's the news?" and showed politely that they didn't believe me when I told them the Japanese marines had patrolled an area between the postoffice and Ranger road, but this morning they were withdrawn.

But even as they spoke, the Japanese troops were moving off and a few minutes later the first shots were fired, opening the battle which is still raging bitterly as this is written.

NEW ATTACKS CAUSE BY MORRIS J. HARRIS.

(Copyright, 1932, by the Associated Press.) SHANGHAI, Jan. 30 .- (Saturday. The Chinese military command settlement

The Chinese military command warned the settlement authorities that unless they used their influence to halt the rising tide of the invaders, Chinese guns would be trained on the international area, where United States marines, with the troops of other nations, have been walking guard over foreign interests worth millions of dollars.

At the same time it was authentically reported that, with the consent of British Consul General J. F. Brenan, the Japanese would take over the international area.

All Shanghai was brilliantly lighted early this morning by the flames of Chapei, which leaped 75 to 100 feet in the air. The roar of the conflagration could be heard for a great distance. It was estimated that already damage amounting to $5,000,000 had been cansed.

New Japanese Troops.

Against the threat of Chiang Kaishek's troops the Japanese ordered new landing parties from their cruisers anchored in the Whangpoo.

Beyond the lines of the International Settlement thousands of terrified Chinese attempted to make their way toward the foreign area, where they might find safety. Here was a major danger, comparable to the threat of action by the armed forces of China who, it was feared, might decide to enter the settlement in the belief that by sheer numbers they might overwhelm the comparative handful of men defending the area's long and tortuous borders.

Rapid-Fire Developments.

The second day and night of Japanese occupation brought a series of dramatic developments. An attempt by civilian authorities to effect an armistice failed. Japanese marines, aided by air bombers, continued their advance in Chapei in the face of stubborn resistance by Chinese soldiers.

An American mission in the International Settlement was invaded by the Japanese. The Shanghai, wireless station was bombed out of commission, A shell fell in the settlement, but no one was hurt.

A dozen Japanese airplanes wheeled and circled about the beleagured area, dropping carriers of death that sent up enormous eruptions. Japanese marines stole through the streets in groups, picking off snipers with mathine guns. The Chinese called on their knowledge of the city to harass the enemy at every step with small arms fire. Over all, the conflagration snapped and crackled, threatening to napped and crackled, threatening to pe out the area. During the holocaust, the Shanghai-today small bands with the stream of foot by foot as the Japanese pressed on.

One group of defenders pushed into the settlement and fired on Japanese defense troops, but was driven off.

Another band attacked a Japanese club close to the boundary and also was thrown back. Reports that additional troops were on the way from Nanking spurred them to frenzied activity.

Commercial activity in the settlement and native cities came to a composite to the standstill. Banks and business house closed their doors. The Chinese Chamber of Commerce declared a general strike in protest against when the orders came that sent the four destroyers speeding toward shough it.

Chinese Statement.

Supporting this premise, the Chinese command issued a statement accusing the Japanese of "murdering our people, burning our homes and seeking to create a situation which would give them an excuse for aggression in the Yangtze valley.

"We intend to defend our territory and as long as we have a single man or a single round of ammunition we will oppose these invaders until they are expelled."

American Consul General Edwin S. Cunniugham kept a close watch on the strife throughout the day and night but would not commit himself as to the possible effects on American lives and interests. The U. S. S. Borie arrived from Manila, bringing the number of American fighting vessels in Shanghai waters to 10, and more were on the way.

When the control lines of the principal wireless station were shattered by the punitive measures of the Japanese, American engineers hooked up a temporary circuit by way of Manila and Java to San Francisco, and trans-Pacific communication was restored.

In spite of the heavy loss in life and property and the danger of grave international complications, the Japanese naval command showed no more disposition than the Chinese to arbitrate the issue, but were intent on pushing matters to a conclusion.

After more than 36 hours had passed since 3,000 Japanese marines landed from a battle fleet in the Whangpoo river, the Japanese marines landed from a battle fleet in the Whangpoo river, the Japanese naval command clung tenaciously to its contention that Chinese civil authorities must disband all anti-Japanese societies, terminate the boycott against Japanese goods and pay reparations for Japanese produce destroyed.

Soviet Says Troops Will Be Carried To Harbin If China Will Agree.

BY STANLEY P. RICHARDSON.

MOSCOW, Jan. 29.—(P)—Whether Russia will allow Japanese troops to be transported to Harbin over the Chinese Eastern railway—jointly owned by China and Russia—was, in effect, put up to China today.

This decision was communicated to Japanese Ambassador Koki Hirota by Assistant Commissar for Foreign Affairs Karakhan.

The ambassador called on the commissar to explain that the Japanese command had found it necessary to avail itself of the Chinese Eastern railway for a troop movement in connection with "a rebellion of Chinese troops in the region of Harbin." The ambassador declared soldiers were needed to protect Japanese citizens and their property in an area menaced by two conflicting factions of Chinese forces.

The quarters of the Southern Methodist mission were entered by Japanese soldiers early this morning and the furniture was demolished. They said they were searching for guns and anti-Japanese literature, but mission officials said they would file a claim for damages through the American consulate.

JAPAN THREATENS TO QUIT LEAGUE
TOKYO, Jan. 30.—(Saturday.)—
(P)—A veiled threat of eventually withdrawing from the League of Nations if the League insists upon what Japan considers to be an unreasonable attitude in the Sino-Japanese controversy was advanced in official circles today.

An authoritative spokesman pointed An authoritative spokesman pointed out in this connection that such a move would be entirely in line with a resolution adopted at a general meeting of the seiyukai (government) party shortly before Premier Inukai, head of that party, came into office.

Tokyo is considering making a proposal that the commission of the League council, which is preparing to start to Manchuria, be dissolved in view of the fact that the Chinese have invoked Article XV of the League covenant.

INFORMATION ON SHANGHAI NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 29 .-(P)—Alarmed by press dispatches from Shanghai, telling of Japanese soldiers invading the American Southern Methodist mission and of a bomb being dropped on church property, the Southern Methodist board of missions today cabled its representatives in China for detailed information. Telegrams also were sent the state design.

Unless the Association of Georgia Colleges agrees to accept the standard of requirements as adopted by the department of education of the state of Georgia, Oglethorpe University will withdraw from the association. Dr. Thornwell' Jacobs told the body at a meeting at the Piedmont hotel Friday night. He read a copy of a resolution asking the association to sanction the state requirements. It will be acted upon at the closing meeting this afternoon.

Dr. Jacobs stated that "Oglethorpe University has insisted that the state of Georgia is the only power that has the legal right to accredit institutions within her borders, and the university recently declined to accept the suggestion originating somewhere in the association that the inspection of Oglethorpe University then being conducted by the state department of education should be made 'jointly.' Should the resolution fail to pass, Oglethorpe University will immediately withdraw from the association."

Dr. J. R. McCain, president of Agnes Neott College, was the principal speaker at the first meeting of the sixteenth annual session. He led a discussion of the financial problems which confront both private and state schools. The problem of safe investment of college funds was stressed, as was the need for the student to bear a greater part of the expense of education than previously.

"There must be a complete revision of the fier system of public schools," Ralph Newton, former president of the Georgia Education Association, and superintendent of the Waycross schools, told the assembly. He advocated that the state superintendent of schools be appointed and not elected by the people. The Georgia laws relating to schools are filled with "absurdities," he asserted.

The newly-appointed board of regents was highly commended by Dr. S. V. Sanford, president of Franklin college of the University of Georgia. "This board in a short time will work out a program which will give us a splendid system of schools." Dr. Sanford said.

Sessions of the association will be held today, beginning at 9:30 o'clock this morning and extending through the afternoon. Men prominent in university and search, and Dr. Archie M. Palmer, associate secretary of the Association of American Colleges, will be the principal speakers.

Eighteen colleges were represented at the opening banquet and forum, which were presided over by J. C. Rogers, president of Piedmont College, who is president of the association.

Malaria Is Employed As Cure for Paresis

As Cure for Paresis

WashingTon, Jan. 29.—(P)—
Government scientists revealed today how "fighting disease with disease" has reduced by 90 per cent the toll of a form of insanity that once meant swift and almost certain death.

Paresis, a mental disease that once was incurable, now apparently can be cured in 90 per cent of the cases by giving the patient malaria, the department of the interior announced.

Clusters of bacteria in the brain called spirochaetes cause paresis, called spirochaetes cause paresis, but they can not endure a temperature of 104. By giving the patient malaria, which raises his temperature to 104 or higher, the spirochaetes are killed.

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed his column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confi-ce. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

It's a large order. Most of us can do neither one and yet the acceptance of the standard is a step in the right direction. It is because they ignore the ten commandments that the new philosophers and the new psychologists have failed to stem this tide of divorce about which they write so glibly and lecture so volubly. In the words of Professor Durant, one of these philosophers "would begin his world reform with a gentle and courteous chloroforming of religion."

Some years before the World War a brilliant woman, a great dent of history and a great traveler, spent a year in Europe Asia. When she returned from her trip she was interviewed b man who asked her if she thought the era of world peace had a ushered in. "No," she replied, "that era will never be ushered in the individuals that live in the world have accepted the ten comments as the code for public and private life." The reporter was so what dashed, not having come for a religious dissertation, but raffor a spicy comment on world affairs. The World War followed a

The pronouncement is applicable to divorce. We shall not see peace in the family, amicable agreement between husbands and wives, until each accepts the code. This code does no violence to the traditional belief of Jew or Gentile. It works no ultimate hardship on husband or wife. It cuts athwart appetite, it rebutes inordinate desire, it shuts out ephemeral pleasure, but it secures to men and women, and to their children, the only true peace and lasting happiness that mortals can know. It is a permanent cornerstone on which to build a home. It is fire and weatherproof material out of which to construct the home. It is insurance against any damage that may befall the home. And having built well and insured against loss there is nothing more a man or woman can do to protect him or herself.

It would take an angel of a man to hold his temper with a wife that continually practiced such neglect of her duties. It would take an angel of a man to resist coveting the wife of some other man, a wife that had orderly habits, a wife that made her home a cosy and comfortable place to go when the day's work was done. Wives, have you built your home on the code, have you insured your home by the code?

West had the opening from a pe-culiarly difficult hand and elected to make the deceptive lead of the Queen make the deceptive lead of the Queen of Clubs. As almost every player would do, Mr. Foster read this as showing the Ace in the East hand and refused to play the King. This was sound play. West next followed with the Ace of clubs which Mr. Foster trumped. Ordinary procedure in the handling of this hand would be to discard a losing spade on the establish-

There is no word heard more frequently at the Contract table than the word "if." "If I had done this" or "If you had done that" are the starting points of many a heated postmortem. These post-mortems are both interesting and instructive when intelligent, but the master player should so play his cards as to eliminate all post-mortems on the play except the laudatory "Well played, partner."

This hand, played in a recent national championship contest by Mr. Barney Foster, of Chicago, merited that encomium.

What the Market Did.

BY JOHN O. COOLEY.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—(P)—Alaough able to reduce its extreme asses, the stock market closed heavy day. Far eastern affairs found their re-

Far eastern affairs found their reflection in offerings of Japanese bonds, a sagging yen and finally, during the final hour, in a bidding up of copper and steel stocks, a move which could easily be attributed to speculative quarters which were anticipating a possible demand for such materials should the Chinese situation take a more serious turn.

Rails had a weak closing and the market generally was inclined to follow them. Net changes averaged into a decline of 7-10 of a point. Transactions totaling 1,528,855 shares were considerably larger than yesterday's. At their lows, prominent issues showed losses of 1 to 3 points. These were reduced or canceled in the fifth trading hour coincident with a two-cent rally by wheat and the firmer appearance of the metals. There was little activity in the late dip.

Fractional net losses prevailed in United States and Bethlehem Steels, Allied Chemical, General Electric, National Biscuit, Case and Woolworth. American Telephone made, up two-thirds of a 3-point drop. Consolidated Gas lost 1, while in the rails Baltimore & Ohio, New York Central, Santa Fe and Southern Pacific were off about 1 to 2. Bethlehem preferred, American Sugar, Detroit Edison and Auburn softened several points.

Edison and Augurn softened several points.

Business trends during the first month of the year have failed to stimulate enthusiasm, but the financial community had been well prepared for negative results. There have been some scattered gains, although these have mostly kept below seasonal standards.

Foreign Markets BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

LONDON—Prices on the stock exchange developed weakness on latest far-eastern happenings. Japanese and Chinese bonds suffered mostly, Japanese declining 2 to 4 points and Chinese 1 to 3 although little selling has occurred thus far. Far eastern news and lack of support affected gitt-edged securities and other British issues while American issues eased with Wall Street. South African gold mine issues were higher on dividend reports.

PARIS—The general heaviness in foreign markets was reflected on the bourse which showed a healtant tendency. Rentes were stronger while metal shares were heavy. Transactions were light and the closing was

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—There was an easier stock market with a somewhat lower cofton market in the early part of the season. However, when wheat turned strong and closed at the high and stocks recovered, a rally took place lin-cotton. Aside from this, the market was largely a local affair, although the steady stream of price-fixing, while small in volume, is quite enough to take care of the offerings. The world's takings of American cotton were again large, being 3242,000 bales for this week, showing a steady increase in consumption of American cotton. The market continued to show a remarkable underlying strength, although there is not a sufficient general outside interest to atmulate any advance until a more definite figure can be obtained on acreage reduction.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—The weather was the controlling factor in today's market and although ignored in the early trading, late reports of below zero temperature in western Kansas started a general buying movement which carried prices up nearly 2 cents from the early low point, with the new crop fatures taking the lead. Winnipeg not only followed our advance, but showed independent strength, the inference being that any damage to our new crop would be reflected in an increased export demand from Canada. Liverpool was relatively firm before our opening and advanced further by the close. Buenos Aires Indifferent but showed a slight rally at noon. The Japanese situation was ignored as a market factor. Increased freight rates to take effect Febrary 20 are expected to atimulate shipments from interior points in the southwest and there is a slight easing of premiums, but total primary receipts still running far behind last year. As the weather will deminate immediate market action, an opinion is effect it willer.

Again Feels Knife

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—(P)—
Despite the remark that if cuts continued the delegation to the Geneva arms conference might have to "swim the Atlantic," the house to-day accepted the senate amendment reducing the appropriation for the delegation.

A house committee fixed the limit at $450,000. Mr. Hoover asked for an appropriation of $415,000. This was cut to $300,000 by the house.

The senate Vestralay alashed off $300,000. Again Feels Knife

TARZAN AND THE ANT MEN

Uhha cast a last frightened glance at the chief, and then she saw that Obebe had rolled away from the pouch, It now lay within her reach, free from the weight of his body. Swaying dizzily, she reached for it only to withdraw her hand in terror again. Then she thought of the fearsome river devil and of the possibilities for horrid death that lay within his power. She picked it up, and hurriedly opening it, examined its contents. The key was there.

in the pouch the purpose of which she was not in the pouch the purpose of which she was not familiar with. The iron collar, chain, and key had been taken from an Arab slave raider that Obebe had killed and eaten. The cannibal chief had been much pleased with these trophies. Finally he discovered how the lock worked. Then many a prisoner had he kept chained by the iron collar until the flesh pots boiled. Even so was he now keeping the mysterious river devil.

Uhha clutched the precious key in her trembling fingers as she hurriedly crawled toward the doorway. That night Miranda, the Spaniard, heard a stealthy movement at the entrance to his prison. Someone or something was creeping toward him! "Who is it?" he demanded, trying to keep the voice from trembling. "It is Uhha, the daughter of Khamis," replied a soft voice. "I have come to set you free that you may know you have a friend in Obebe's village and will therefore not destroy us. Remember your promise."

Miranda was overjoyed. Here was Juck! He wondered if the girl had obeyed and told no one? "How can you free the river devil?" he demanded. "See!" whispered Uhha. "I have brought the key to the collar about your neck." Crawling closer, she handed it to him. Then she would have fled, but Miranda detained her. "When I am free," he said, "you must lead me to the jungle. Whoever frees me must do this if he would win the favor of the river god." Uhha was afraid, but she did not dare refuse.

Martin's Summer

BY VICKI BAUM.

Anika crept out of the car. She was terribly tired and very forlors. Nevertheless she tried to laugh and make the best of it. She would have liked to say good-by to Bulli, but there seemed no chance for that.

He behaved as if the weather were fine and nothing at all the matter between him and May. Once or twice during the day he left the bathing station and strolled into the town.

"I'm going to have a meal," he said to Herr Brindl. But he did nothing of the sort. He did not by any means go to have a meal Cocasionally he cooked himself bacon and eggs on the spirit lamp. It was the post office he trudged to, and came back empty-handed. He fingered thoughtfully the real silver medal which he had won for his record swim. He swam his 1500-meter course, though the lake was cold and rough. He took 23 minutes 58 seconds—this could not be called good time. Again he went to the post. Nothing. He stood in front of the Big Petermann and whistled. No result.

He put a good face on it and took there seemed no chance for that.

"So long, Bulli," she said, and turned her head once more before vanishing beneath the solitary lamp over the station entrance. Carla dollowed her like a bodyguard.

Martin felt a lump in his throat as he looked after the little figure that was to be conveyed into safety. "So long," he called after her, but she was out of hearing.

Soon the train came puffing along down the grades, then puffed pompously on again. Carla came out of the station and got into the car.

"That's done," she said. "It's gone very well. I took a ticket for her to Vienna and gave her some money. That will go in with the rest she has got out of Tat."

"Thank you very much."

"Don't mention it."

They proceeded in silence through He put a good face on it and took some money out of his drawer. He laid hands on his sacred capital and went into the Cafe Petermann, where on wet afternoons the visitors of the hotel

Memphis Police Seek Missing Cotton Man

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 29.—(8')
Memphis police expressed concern today over the reported disappearance of Clifton R. Pierce, a cotton man who was recently transferred here from New Bedford, Mass., by United Merchants and Manufacturers, Inc.

Pierce was last seen early last night when he sent a telegram to his wife at New Bedford advising "don't leave for here. Particulars follow by night letter." He did not return to his hotel and telegraph offices had no record of a night letter. Pierce came here about three weeks ago and his family expected to follow.
